MUSSOLINI ADVISES HIS FASCISTI TO CLEAN HOUSE

Party Revision Now Essential, Says Premier

ORDER, HIS AIM

Confidence Of Public Must Not Be Abused

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Dec. 1.—Signor Mussolini has issued a message to local Fascist executives declaring that a revision of the party's moral, mental and political position is necessary. Though he deprecates the attaching of excessive importance to changes of public opinion, the Premier says that the impression resulting from the recent incidents must be effaced. "The people supported Fascism thinking it would re-establish order. This confidence," says the message, "must not be abused. Discreditable elements, whatever their past services, must be eliminated, as also must personal quarrels."

In conclusion, the Premier, referring to the forthcoming gatherings of foreigners in Italy for the League of Nations Council and the Holy Year, appeals to Italians to preserve order.

Heroic Police Sergeant Made First Recipient Of High Award For Gallantry

Council's Distinguished Conduct Medal, First Class, Presented To Sergeant B.B. Boddy At Ceremony In Shanghai General Hospital

In a ceremony distinguished by the presence of many high officials of the Settlement police force and more than a score of his fellow sergeants, Police Sergeant B. B. Boddy was yesterday afternoon made the first recipient of the first class Municipal Distinguished Conduct Medal, silver bar.

The presentation, which was made by Chairman Stirling Fessenden on behalf of the Municipal Council, took place at the Shanghai General Hospital, where Sergeant Boddy has been confined as a patient since October 30th last, when, unarmed and desperately wounded, he captured an armed robber who had shot him through the stomach and liver.

In addition to receiving the silver medal, the first of its kind to be presented by the Council, Sergeant Boddy has been granted a year's seniority and a cheque.

The scene at the hospital yesterday was a fitting tribute to the courage and personal bravery of Sergeant Boddy. A room in the hospital had been specially decorated for the occasion. In addition to Mr. Fessenden and Major A. Hilton Johnson, Acting Commissioner of Police, there were present Captain E. I. M. Barrett, Superintendent of Police (Sikh Branch); Captain R. M. J. Martin; Assistant Superintendent of Police (Sikhs) Beatty, and details of officers from each station.

REVIEWS OCCURENCE

Major Hilton Johnson, in opening the ceremonies, gave a brief review of the occurence on October 30th in which Sergeant Boddy was so gravely wounded. A shop on Avenue Edward VII has been invaded by a gang of three armed robbers who fired several shots in order to intimidate the inmates of the shop. Chinese Police Constable 1312, who attempted to stop the robbers was shot and seriously wounded. Sergeant Boddy, although unarmed, attempted to intercept one of the men, and in doing so was shot through the liver and stomach. Though seriously wounded, Sergeant Boddy refused to give up the chase, and after running a distance of over 300 yards managed to capture the man and hold him.

The high degree of courage shown by Sergeant Boddy, Major Hilton Johnson said, was an example of which all members of the Police would be proud, and for his exceptional bravery the Municipal Council had decided to award to Sergeant Boddy the highest honor at its disposal, the First Class Distinguished Conduct Medal for Gallantry, this being the first medal of its kind to be awarded by the Council.

MR. FESSENDEN SPEAKS

Mr. Fessenden then spoke briefly before making the formal presentation of the medal. The Council, he said, had learned with deep regret of the serious injuries sustained by Sergeant Boddy and were now glad to hear that he was well along on the way to recovery. The Council were deeply appreciative of the fact that Sergeant Boddy's injuries had been sustained in the performance of his duties. His splendid devotion to duty and his great personal courage reflected credit not only on him personally, but also on the Settlement Police Force in which we all have so much pride. This was the first medal of its kind to be presented by the Council, and in presenting it the speaker wished Sergeant Boddy a long and successful career in the Municipal service.

Potentate's Aide-de-Camp Seized On Fraud Charge

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 1.—According to the newspapers the second man whom the police are seeking in connection with the Bank case is the aide-de-camp of the Eastern potentate mentioned. The most varying reports as to his whereabouts are prevalent. The fact that two Scotland Yard officers have gone to Paris does not necessarily mean that he is there. The reason for the detectives' visit is to interrogate a woman friend as regards the aide-de-camp's whereabouts. The missing man was last reported to be in China whither he went from San Francisco. It is alleged that he has been concerned in the bootlegging business in the United States. An official of the Home Office will possibly go to the East to interview "Mr. A." (the potentate) or members of his suite.

(Reuter's Service)

Later.—The aide-de-camp has been arrested.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Dec. 1.—Two British detectives brought the aide-de-camp from the office of the British Tourist Agency at the Champs Elysees where he had been employed to the police headquarters where he was detained most of the afternoon pending French acceptance of the warrant.

It was announced this evening that an agreement had been reached as regards the arrest between the British Embasay and the Detective Bureau of the Ministry of the Interior.

The charge contained in the warrant is one receiving a cheque for £150,000 stolen abroad.

The man arrested is described as a captain aged 42. He was accompanied to the police headquarters by a colonel whose name was not disclosed.

The aide-de-cmp will be handed over to the British authorities tomorrow.

London, December 2.—In the bank case, which ended on November 28 when judgment was deferred, judgment was given today for the bank.

COMMITTEE WILL DECIDE ON AMERICAN OPIUM PLAN

U. S. Proposals Will Be Investigated At Geneva

BRITAIN OPPOSES

Outside Conference Scope, Delegate Declares

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Dec. 1.—At the resumed debate of the Opium Conference Sir Malcolm Delavingne contended that it was only possible to enlarge the scope of the conference by mutual consent. The acceptance of the American proposals would mean not only the prohibition of the export of opium, but its internal prohibition. This would affect India, Persia and other countries. His impression of the proceedings of the advisory committee was that the domestic use of opium and coca leaves in the producing countries would not be raised at the conference. Great Britain took the view that the matter was outside the scope of the conference. He declared that unless an agreement was reached between manufacturing and producing countries they would in effect have failed.

The delegates of Japan, Poland, China and Cuba favored a discussion of the American proposals.

The conference finally decided by 26 votes to 1, with 9 abstentions, to refer the American proposals to the First Committee for examination and report.

Canada and Ireland voted in the majority; Great Britain, Australia, France, Greece, Portugal, Yugoslavia, Turkey, The Netherlands and Bolivia abstained from voting, while India comprised the minority.

Sir J. Campbell recorded a reservation which the President intimated would be noted.

The result of the vote means that the conflict of views between the United States and India has been temporarily disposed of, but there is no indication at the present time what the committee will decide to recommend.

One Fukien Regiment Is Withdrawn From Shanghai

BY D. J. LEWIS

One regiment of troops belonging to Marshal Sun Chuan-fang of Hangchow, which has been stationed at the Kiangnan Dock near the Arsenal since the close of the Kiangsu-Chekiang war, packed up their belongings and departed for Hangchow last Monday. This leaves only one regiment of troops belonging to the Inspector-General of Chekiang and Fukien now remaining in Shanghai.

The foregoing information was obtained yesterday afternoon from Li Yi-ching, chief-of-staff of General Chang Yuen-ming, Peking's appointee as Defense Commissioner of Shanghai, who is still in control of the muchly-fought over Yamen at Lunghwa in spite of the efforts of Marshal Chi Hsieh-yuan to get him out.

When asked about the output of the Arsenal which, it was noticed, was working, the chief of staff replied that as the Arsenal was still under the control of Marshal Sun, all supplies turned out were being placed at the disposal of the Chekiang tuchun. When questioned about the reports in Shanghai newspapers that trenches were being dug and occupied by soldiers on the outskirts of Shanghai he replied that owing to the cold weather the soldiers on sentry duty found it uncomfortable facing the cold winds and therefore had occupied several trenches which had been dug and occupied by the Chekiang forces during the recent Chekiang-Kiangsu flare-up.

The 1,400 soldiers which have left for Hangchow, according to the officials at the Shanghai South station, departed at 6.30 a.m. Monday, and were not actually quartered in the Arsenal. Owing to the cold weather efforts are being made to have the troops now in the outlying sections removed to warmer quarters. It is believed that General Chang Yuen-ming is also fulfilling his promise given to the local gentry to remove his troops to military barracks and not billet them any longer in the outlying villages.

General Chang's chief of staff believes that the new government now set up at Peking will be successful and he will lend it his full support. General Chang declares that he is whole-heartedly for the preservation of law and order and is in full support of the reorganised government in Peking under Marshal Tuan.

Chief-of-staff Li stated that in his opinion the slight trouble in Chekiang was due to the fact that a portion of the former Chekiang soldiery now incorporated in Marshal Sun's army had been ordered to leave Hangchow for service in another part of Chekiang Province but did not desire to leave Hangchow.

At the Arsenal, the same number of troops seen there on previous occasions some weeks ago were still stationed there. The troops belong to the 5th Regiment of the Fukien 2nd division and consist of infantry units, one machine gun company and an artillery unit. The only other troops stationed at the Arsenal were the regular naval guard of Chinese marines. Several groups of Hupeh troops on leave were noticed in the immediate vicinity of the Arsenal but there were no indications of any Hupeh troops being actually quartered in the Arsenal itself.

The only person named Asmus, listed by the most recent hong lists as in the employ of the British-American Tobacco Company, is Mr. H. J. Asmus, who is listed as being connected with the B. A. T. at Kaigan.

LABOR PROTEST HALTS VOTE FOR CANTON'S MAYOR

Guilds Issue Warning That They Won't Recognise Elections

(Reuter's Service)

Canton, Dec. 1.—Voting for the mayor of Canton was proceedihg here yesterday when, in the afternoon, the Labor Guilds issued a circular nessage saying that they would refuse to recognise this election.

The two most prominent candidates were Dr. Wu Chao-chu, son of the late Dr. Wu Ting-fang, and Mr. Tse Ying-pak, a well known Labor leader.

The next move of the Canton Government is uncertain.

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, Dec. 1.—The voting for the Mayor of Canton City took place yesterday under military vigilance at three places, namely, the Educational Association, the Workmen's Association, and the General Chamber of Commerce buildings.

While the voting was taking place at the Educational Association building, armed students of the Chiangwu Hsuehtung suddenly entered the poll and snatched away the voting papers. At the Workmen's Association building, a heated dispute occurred over the question of franchise, resulting in a scuffle, and a proclamation was issued to the effect that the election was null and void. It was finally agreed, however, that the ballot would be opened this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The situation is that it seems more than likely that Mrs. Liao, wife of Mr. Liao Ching-kai, will be defeated at the present election.

'IRON STATUE' OF CHI SUGGESTED BY 'SUFFERERS'

Scheme To Erect Effigy Of Kiangsu Leader Is Proposed Here

The Kiangsu Various Districts War Sufferers Federation—that, at least, is the title officially given in the federation's own pronouncements—asserts that it has reason to believe that the present unpopularity of Tuchun Chi Hsieh-yuan is so widespread in Kiangsu Province as to warrant the erection of an iron effigy in his honor.

The aims of the federation are made known in an advertisement appearing in a local Chinese newspaper. Tuchun Chi, the advertisement asserts, was the principal culprit in the recent Kiangsu-Chekiang War.

"Prior to the war, he obtained tens of millions of dollars," the advertisement continues. "During the war, there was destroyed property worth hundreds of millions of dollars. After the war, looting and incendiarism cost millions of dollars more. Numerous lives were lost and many women were attacked."

For all of which reasons, the federation asserts, Tuchun Chi is entitled to have his statue erected in effigy. Funds for the erection of the statue are being sought in a public campaign, the promoters asking that contributions be addressed to the headquarters of the federation at No. 2 Zuy Yee Lee, Rue Paul Beau, French Concession.

SURPRISE IS OCCASIONED AS FENGTIEN CHIEF GOES

Will Marshal Troops At Tientsin, Belief

RUMORS APLENTY

Would Force Issue With Feng, Is Report

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 2.—Marshal Chang Tso-lin, accompanied by General Chang Hsueh-liang, General Yang Yu-ting, his Chief-of-Staff, General Wu Chen-sheng, the Governor of Heilungkiang, other members of his staff and a bodyguard, left Peking for Tientsin at four o'clock this morning by train.

The police only received instructions to guard the railway station at one o'clock this morning.

Six trains are preparing to convey the remainder of the Fengtien troops to Tientsin.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, Dec. 2.—Marshal Chang Tso-lin arrived at Tientsin Central Station from Peking this morning. His train was preceded by two other trains full of troops.

It is uncertain whether he intends to proceed further or to establish his headquarters here.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 2, (Later).—The explanation of Marshal Chang Tso-lin's departure seems to lie in the fact that his position in Peking had become too precarious.

Ever since his arrival members of his staff had been impressing upon him the danger of the situation as General Feng's army greatly outnumbered the Fengtien troops. Meanwhile General Feng's followers have been acting in a sullen, dissatisfied manner, though retaining a large measure of control in Peking, while Marshal Tuan has refused to risk precipitating a conflict by taking drastic action against them.

That General Feng has on several occasions contemplated another coup has been an open secret.

During the negotiations with General Feng, the latter resigned twice, each letter being rejected. But this was merely camouflaging the real negotiations which were making no progress. Recently General Feng appeared to be acquiescing in Marshal Tuan's plans and the situation appeared to improve until the flight of the ex-Emperor showed that his information indicated the possibility of General Feng resuming control in Peking at least temporarily.

Thereupon fresh disturbing rumors arose but no one expected Marshal Chang Tso-lin's sudden, dramatic departure, which came as another daybreak surprise.

It is generally believed that Marshal Chang will halt at Tientsin and gather his main forces there, which would force the issue as regards General Feng Yu-hsiang's real intentions.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 2.—Chinese officials assert that Marshal Chang Tso-lin's departure was premeditated, Marshal Tuan Chi-jui and Marshal Chang thinking the position in the capital sufficiently secure for the latter to return to Manchuria, and that the secret exit was merely a precaution against personal danger, but this is generally considered unconvincing. Marshal Chang's departure leaves Peking at the mercy of General Feng Yu-hsiang's group unless marshal Chang remains at Tientsin.

The incident has created a sensation in Peking, which is filled with rumors, such as that Marshal Chang was accompanied by the ex-Emperor. For this last there is no foundation.

RUMOR-MONGERS ARE BUSY WITH WAR FORECASTS

Predictions Of Imminence Of Strife Here Unfounded, Observers Say

Alarming reports of another impending conflict on the outskirts of Shanghai in which the forces of General Chang Yuen-ming, Hupeh leader who is now occupying Lunghwa, and General Kung Paung-tu, who is Tuchun Chi Hsieh-yuan's candidate for the defense commissionership of Shanghai and Sungkiang will oppose each other continue to appear in local Chinese newspapers, but, according to foreign observers, have little founuation in fact.

One newspaper account insists that Chang's forces at Lunghwa are busy digging trenches in preparation for an attack by Kung's men, but visits to Lunghwa have failed to disclose any newly constructed defenses. General Kung has issued a statement warning the populace against listening to rumor-mongers and declaring that he is unalterably opposed to any renewal of warfare.

Another report asserts that 2,000 soldiers of the 2nd Kiangsu Division have arrived here recently from Soochow in order to assist General Kung. They are now quartered in Chapei, it is said. Chinese residents of Nantao, this same report asserts, are considerably alarmed over the prospect of warfare in their vicinity and are again fleeing to the Settlement for safety.

Hostility to Tuchun Chi is expressed in many articles appearing in the local press. One newspaper asserts that Chi has sent a delegate to Shanghai to procure several large foreign-style houses in the French Concession for himself and his suite as he realised that his forced departure for Shanghai is imminent. He has already made definite plans to send his family here, this paper says.

YALE GRADUATE FOUND DEAD, CHAINED TO TREE.

HENRY H. McHENRY

Henry H. McHenry, member of a prominent Ardmore, Pa., family, Yale graduate and World War hero, was found dead, evidently from starvation, with one end of a 150-foot chain padlocked around his neck and the other end made fast to a big tree, in a wild section of the Green Mountains, near Williamsport, Pa. His father, a former vice-president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, declared his son had often threatened to commit suicide in that strange manner. Young McHenry disappeared from home August 1. The ground around the tree to which he was chained was worn bare where he had paced around and around, unable to free himself.

Scores Injured As Communists In Reval Riot

The Premier, M. Akel, announced the proclamation of martial law.

General Laidoner, the Commander-in-Chief, stated that the insurgents attacked the Ministry of War, throwing three bombs, and raided the staff of the 10th Infantry Regiment, killing three sleeping officers. They also attacked the Military Academy with hand grenades, killing a sentry cadet, killed the commander of the guard at the Castle, penetrated the President's house, and occupied the police barracks, the post and telegraph office and the military aerodrome, whence two aeroplanes were despatched to Russia, but these were forced to descend at Narva.

The rebels killed the employes of the railway station and also captured a party of officers, whose clothes were torn off as a preliminary to being shot.

Communists outside Reval at the same time attempted to blow up the railway. The Premier declared that he was confident of the ability of the government to maintain the upper hand.

(Reuter's Service)

Reval, December 2.—Government casualties in yesterday's fighting were eleven killed, including five officers and three cadets, and twenty two wounded, including three officers and ten cadets. Twenty insurgents were executed.

Seattle Trade Trippers Plan Far East Trip

Seattle men, Mr. Hardeman said yesterday and the entire party is expected to number between 75 and 100 persons.

The first trip was taken to the far east by the Seattle business men in 1921, to celebrate the first sailing of an Admiral line vessel from that port. Many men who were on that trip and who later have been to Shanghai and Manila with the Nile Temple Shriner group will be on this second trade journey.

"We have two purposes in making the trip to the far east again," Mr. Hardeman said yesterday. "We want to renew friendships out here and make courtesy visits to the business men of Japan, China and the Philippines Islands.

"And we want to extend personal invitations from the members of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce to the business men of the far east to attend the National Foreign Trade Council Convention at Seattle the latter part of June, next year."

This is the first time in the history of the foreign trade convention that foreign delegates have been invited. It is expected that more than 1,300 men—including the biggest business men of the United States—will attend the convention. Nothing definite is known as yet as to how many delegates will be sent from the orient.

"The inclusion of foreign business men in the convention marks a milestone in the trade relations between the United States and the far east," Mr. Hardeman said.

"The National Foreign Trade Council is interested in selling goods outside the borders of the United States, something that was very little thought of before the war. But the American business man has realized that the life of industry in the United States depends upon its foreign trade and the convention discusses methods of getting into the foreign fields. The merchant marine will be another phase discussed."

Seattle was second port in the United States last year in tonnage, Mr. Hardeman said. This was largely due to heavy shipments of lumber to Japan, immediately following the earthquake. Seattle has been trailing San Francisco on the Pacific coast previous to last year. Shipments are keeping up fairly well this year, Mr. Hardeman reports.

Captain J. S. Gibson, millionaire shipping man of Seattle, will head the delegation to the far east as he did in 1921 on the first voyage. David Whitcomb is president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

The party will remain intact from Seattle to Manila but will break up there with persons wishing to see more of the Philippines staying and others coming to Shanghai for the trip to Peking and other cities.

Another Strange Tale Told By Dollar Skipper

These Dollar round-the-world ship skippers seem to have a faculty for gathering strange tales to pass out to the palpitating world.

Captain Jonas Pendlebury, President Adams, was the first with his story of floating islands off the southern coast of the Philippine Islands.

Now comes Captain Kenneth Lowery, President Garfield, who only recently passed through Philippine Islands.

Several score islands were rooted out of the China sea shortly after the Japan earthquake. One in particular, volcanic formation, reared its head nearly 100 feet above the surface of the water.

Mala Dehlak, Indo-China swashbuckling bandit leader, set up a kingdom on the largest of the new islands, after he had been informed that his tribe didn't want any more to do with him.

From this island he preyed on nearby islands, stealing the best looking girls of the villages and forcing former brothers in arms to give forth valuable property.

Great mass-meetings were held in the ravaged villages, all tribe members offering sacrifices and prayers that Mala Dahlak might be eliminated from this section of the world.

Then came word that Mala was planning an enormous raid on nearby mainlands. He needed 200 male slaves and any number of females to serve as ladies in waiting. More prayers and sacrifices were offered.

And as the villagers praved all night long, so the story goes, the homeside island of Mala gradually sank into the sea from whence it came only a few months ago.

Inch by inch it went down. Slowly, so as not to disturb the slumbers of Mala and his men and slaves. When daylight came the island was gone.

The United States hydrographic office upholds the story with the report that "the volcanic island previously reported as being 97 feet high, formerly located about eight and three-quarters miles northeastward of Round Island has disappeared and the last depth in the vicinity was 25 fathoms. This islet is to be expunged from the records but the danger line is to be retained. Approximate position, latitude 10.10 north, longitude 100 east."

Liquor Problem Is Still Question In Philippine Islands

British Ship Is Fined For Carrying Many Cases Into Manila Port

The liquor question still agitates the Philippines and the bars are keeping their cellars well filled in case of emergency, according to recent advices from Manila.

The British steamer Menelaus steamed into Manila two weeks ago with a goodly cargo of liquors aboard and because of the shipment of liquor bound for Manila had no consular bills of health from Glasgow and Hongkong, the Philippine health service recommended a fine of 4,000 pesos, the maximum penalty being 2,000 pesos for each case brought in.

Further violations of the law will be punished more severely, it has been promised.

The liquor question came into prominence three months ago with consuls receiving advices from the state department not to grant bills of health to ships with liquor cargoes for the Philippines. Governor General Wood said the state department had nothing to do with it. At the time of the first ruling bars and hotels of Manila laid up heavy stocks.

SMYRNA LOSSES BRING SUIT IN BRITISH COURT

Test Case Is Brought Against Insurance Company By American Firm

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 1.—An important case arising from the great fire at Smyrna in September 1922, and involving a vast sum of money, was begun at the Commercial Court in London today. The plaintiffs are the American Tobacco Company who claimed to recover insurances destroyed by fire from the Guardian Assurance Company.

The liability of a number of insurance companies to pay insurances on other destroyed property will depend on the judgment.

The plaintiff's counsel said that the issue was whether the fire was accidental or came within the exceptions of fire policies, on which the action was brought. His contention was that the fire was accidental.

The case was adjourned.

Be Vaccinated.
IT is such a simple, easy matter to be vaccinated against Smallpox and it affords such protection to the health of the individual and the community that there can be no reasonable excuse for failure to have it done. In China, where smallpox is so prevalent, the safest precaution is vaccination at least every other year.
THE Health Department of the Shanghai Municipal Council has very wisely arranged to vaccinate the public free of charge. As a civic duty and as a safeguard to health our policyholders and all other residents of Shanghai, Foreign and Chinese, are urged to take immediate advantage of this favorable opportunity.

KATO OUTLINES HIS POLICIES IN TOKIO ADDRESS

Non-Intervention In China Is Insisted Upon By Japan's Premier

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Dec. 2.—Speaking yesterday afternoon at the mass meeting of members of the Kenseikai Party in the Kwanto District, the Premier, Viscount Kato, laid stress on the purification of official discipline, the enforcement of universal suffrage, and administrative and financial readjustment, which are the platform of the present Cabinet, and emphasised that he would do his utmost for the realisation of this platform.

Referring to Japan's diplomatic affairs, the Premier stated that it was natural that Japan maintained strict non-interference in the latest Chihli-Fengtien war, thus refraining from taking part with any one political part or faction in China, and expressed satisfaction that the government and people of Japan succeeded in avoiding evils to which they were in the past apt to be liable. The Premier also expressed his hope that the situation in China would be settled as soon as possible and that the Chinese people would make steady progress, enjoying peace in their country.

With reference to the relations between Japan and Soviet Russia, the Premier said that while it was devoutly to be hoped that the diplomatic relations of these two countries would be restored, it was at the same time essential for the Japanese government to maintain Japan's prestige by all means and to protect her rights and interests.

"The Japanese Government are conducting negotiations with the Soviet Government from the above viewpoint," stated the Premier, "but I am not yet in a position to give my definite views relating to the future of the Soviet-Japanese negotiations."

Japanese See Need Of Loan For China

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Dec. 2:—Commenting on the loan question vis-a-vis China, the "Hocho," in an editorial today, writes in effect:—

"The accommodation of loans to China in the past has given rise to public criticism. It is evident, however, that to rescue China from her present critical situation, the first and foremost of questions is that of money.

"It is also to be expected that a proposal will possibly arise that at this juncture Japan should revise some suitable means so that a new leaf may be turned in her policy towards China. It is, however, most necessary for the Japanese Government to adopt an especially careful attitude in this respect, establishing a firm policy."

Chinese Minister Asks Britain's Aid In League Campaign

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 1.—Mr. Austen Chamberlain received Mr. Chu Chao-hsin at the Foreign Office this afternoon. Mr. Chu emphasised the importance of China's association with the League of Nations and her desire for a seat on the Council. The Foreign Secretary was sympathetic but made it quite clear that he could not pledge himself to any action in that connection.

Trade Balance Is Against Japanese

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Dec. 2.—The Department of Finance announces that for the month of November, Japan's trade with foreign countries amounted to Y.18,000,000 in exports and Y.190,000,000 in imports, the balance being Y.9,000,000 in favor of imports.

Britain To Urge Anti-Bolshevist Move, Rome Hears

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, December 2.—Speaking on Mr. Chamberlain's next visit to Paris and Rome Le Matin understands that the British Government intend to propose to France and Italy, as to Moslem Powers, to make measures connected with those taken by Britain in Egypt with a view to a common defense against bolshevist infiltration.

MRS. E. L. DOHENY SPRINGS SENSATION,

After her son, E. L. Doheny, Jr., had refused to testify in a Los Angeles court, where the Government is seeking to annul leases on naval oil lands held by his father, the multi-millionaire oil magnate, Mrs. E. L. Doheny sprung a sensation when she produced the missing signature of ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall to the $100,000 note given by Fall to her husband. Doheny declares the $100,000 was a loan, but the Government alleged it was a bribe. Mrs. Doheny testified the signature had been torn off so that if anything happened to her husband or herself, Fall would not be embarrassed by demand for hurried repayment.

Women Of S'hai Thank Council For War Work

The women of Shanghai, as represented by eight organisations, have just issued a proclamation of thanks and appreciation to the Municipal Council, the Shanghai Volunteer Corps and other organisations, for their work during the recent war between Kiangsu and Chekiang.

The proclamation follows:

"In time of war the women are the greatest sufferers, unless some one stands guard.

"The history of the recent short period of fighting around Shanghai has been no exception to this rule, for the unguarded Chinese women have suffered much.

"Remembering these things, and knowing what it would have meant to the homes, the women, and children, had Shanghai fallen into the hands of the leaderless soldiers who were surrounding its borders, we, the women of the various organisations, represented by the signatures below desire to express our grateful appreciation to the Municipal Council for their and constant planning, to the City Volunteers for their labors in guarding the boundaries, to the City police force for their constant and effective watchfulness, and to any and all other forces which worked for the safety and order of the city during the time of danger." Yoshizawa Explains Position As Host To 'Boy Emperor'

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Dec. 1.—With regard to the ex-Emperor, Hsuan Tung's case, Mr. Yoshizawa, Japanese Minister, has notified the British and Dutch Ministers of the full details in connection with the case and is reported to have effected an understanding with the two ministers. This step on the part of the Japanese Minister is, it is said, due to the fact that on November 5, the Japanese, British and Dutch Ministers drew the attention of the Waichiaopu to the expulsion of the ex-Emperor from the Imperial Palace by General Feng Yu-hsiang. Interviewed today by a representative of the Eastern News Agency, Mr Yoshizawa, Japanese Minister, stated in part:—

"In allowing the ex-Emperor to take refuge in the Japanese Legation building, I have merely exercised the right of protection which is warrantable from the viewpoint of public law. I am treating the ex-Emperor with respect taking into consideration his social standing as the Emperor of the Manchu regime.

"The matter as to what step he will take will be decided by himself, and therefore I have nothing to do with this matter. I am, however, taking utmost care and not sparing my good offices for his safety, now that I have already undertaken to protect him."

Japan Sincere In Disarmament Plan, Says Head Of Navy

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Dec. 2.—Interviewed today by press representatives, Admiral Takarabe, Minister of the Navy, made the following statement:

"That various groundless rumors apparently based on suspicions as to the attitude of the Imperial Navy towards the disarmament question are being circulated in foreign countries is most deplorable. The policy and principles of the Japanese Navy remain exactly the same as heretofore.

"Needless to say, we are more than willing to live up to the proposal for disarmament, since we trust that it is of such a nature that will bring about world peace. So long as it is based on a just and fair foundation, does not impair the prestige of our country, and is not incompatible with necessary conditions for national defences of Japan, we are quite sincere in showing our highest respect for an honorable and dignified world peace for the establishment of which we are willing to act in concert with all the powers."

"You can do it with a Jewett"

JEWETT SPECIAL
A Thrifty Six Built by Paige

Gear Changing Rarely Necessary

THE Jewett Works wish to acquaint the motor car buyers with the mechanical construction of the Jewett.

The Jewett clutch is an engineering feat. Gear shifting on a Jewett is instant without pause and no clashing. The new Paige type clutch, no matter how fast you lift your foot, can neither stall the engine nor jerk the car. It engages and disengages smoothly and gently. The gear box is unusually silent and shifts as easily as the clutch. The powerful, flexible, six cylinder engine makes gear changing rarely necessary.

Easy steering is one of the most delightful features of Jewett performance. At each end of the Paige-Timken front axle are ball-bearing steering spindles that respond to the slightest touch on the wheel. The old tension and strain of a "stiff wheel" are forgotten. The frailest woman finds Jewett a pleasure to handle.

JEWETT SPECIFICATIONS:

Engine—6 cylinder, 3¼ x 5; lubricated by high pressure oiling to main and connecting rod bearings; two unit electrical starting and lighting, thermostatically controlled; automatic spark advance; Paige-Timken axles; extra heavy 6 inch "I" beam steel frame; improved type four speed transmission; dry plate clutch; special alloy steel springs, 36" in front, 54" in rear; all-steel universal joints; force-feed chassis lubrication.

Special models furnished at slight extra cost with additional equipment

RAILROADERS WIN FROM NAVY TEAM IN LEAGUE GAME

Splendid Basketball At The Pavilion; Koreans Beat Portuguese

Two Foreign Basketball League Games were played at Pioneer Pavilion yesterday evening, the first being an utter walkover for the Koreans against the Portuguese team, and the second being a splendid contest between the U. S. Navy team and the Canadian Railroaders which was not settled until after five minutes of extra play, the Railroaders finally winning by a score of 38 to 32.

This latter contest was a real thriller from start to finish. The Navy was represented by the fast U. S. S. Penguin quintet. The Canadian Railroaders, who entered originally as the Canadians but have officially changed their team name to "Railroaders," had a splendid team on the floor, and both they and the sailors showed fast and brilliant work throughout, putting up the finest exhibition seen so far in the Foreign Basketball League play.

THRILLING CONTEST

The Railroaders scored first, netting the ball twice before the Navy broke through for a goal The gobs put through two in quick succession, but the Railroaders got another basket before the end of the first quarter, which ended 6-4 in their favor. In the second quarter the Railroaders got a little further ahead, scoring three field goals and one foul, while the gobs also scored three goals, and the half ended with the score 13 to 10 in favor of the Railroaders.

With the close score at the start of the second half, both teams started off fast, the sailors keeping neck and neck with the others throughout. The gobs scored six field goals to the Railroaders' five and a foul in this quarter, and the final ten minutes started with the Railroaders leading by 24 to 22. Albert started off the scoring in the final, which was a thrilling finish which had the spectators a bit dizzy with excitement, and yelling their lungs out each minute.

Alberto's goal tied the score, and a minute later Counts put the ball in the basket again, putting the Navy ahead by two points. Ross shot a goal for the Railroaders, again tying the score, then Albert put in another goal, putting the gobs ahead once more. The Canadians again tied, then the sailors shot two more, giving them a four-point lead, and it looked as if they were going to win in a whirlwind finish. Ross again tied the score, however, with two goals in quick succession, and the game ended with the score 32 all.

It was a real thriller, and most of the spectators were on their feet shouting, screaming, or squealing (nothing personal, madam) to the limit of their lung power. Even the score-keepers got mixed up, one or two goals apparently having got lost in the shuffle, and there was a dispute, but it was decided to be a draw, and a five-minute extra period was played. In the extra period Ross, the Railroaders' star, scored three goals in succession, winning the game for them by a score of 38 to 12. It was one of the finest games seen in Shanghai, and those who came to see it got all their hearts could desire in the way of fast and exciting play.

The score:

U. S. Navy		Can. Railroad
Albert	r.f.	Ross
Webster	l.f.	Laidlaw, Sutton
Counts	c.	Hines
Foret	r.g.	Jaynes
Rogers	l.g.	Taylor, Laidlaw

Goals from field:—Ross 13, Albert 10, Webster 3, Laidlaw 2, Hines 2, Counts 2, Rogers 1, Sutton 1.

Goals from fouls:—Ross 2.

Referee:—Dr. Gray.

KOREANS WALLOP PORTUGUESE

In the first game of the evening the Koreans had a complete walkover from the Portuguese team, winning by a score of 35 to 2. There was no very fine play on either side, the game being in every way the reverse of the other match played, and the Koreans' score would have been much higher had they had much ability as goal-shooters. Shen, their center, put up a good game, and scored ten of the Koreans' 17 goals from the floor.

The Portuguese in general showed little ability, and still less spirit. Canavarro, who started in at forward and then jumped center against Chen, put up a creditable game, and scored the only goal of his team, but it was almost one-man work, as he received wretched support from his team-mates, and one player cannot put up much of a contest against five who play even passably well together.

The Portuguese team failed to score at all in the first half, which ended 17 to nil, he getting his lone goal in the second part. If Canavarro could get four men with his own spirit and energy the Portuguese would have a team worthy of the name.

The score was as follows:

Portuguese		Koreans
Canavarro, Rocha	r.f.	K. Choi
Gutierrez, A. F. Remedios	l.f.	C. Choi
E. Perpetuo, Canavarro	c.	Shen
S. Pereira, A. F. Remedios	r.g.	Lee
E. L. Rocha, Gutierrez, Korean	l.g.	Kim

Goals from field:—Shen 10, C. Choi 5, K. Choi 2, Canavarro 1.

Goal from fouls:—C. Choi 1.

TWO GAMES TOMORROW

There are no Foreign League games scheduled for tonight. Tomorrow evening, December 4, there will be two games at the Pavilion, and League prospects will become a bit clearer. The Shanghai Recreation Club's team is down to meet Scott Company (the Baseball Club's quintet), while the Koreans will play the Machine Gunners. It will be interesting to see how the Gunners turn out.

FINE FIGHT CARD AT LOW PRICES TOMORROW NIGHT

Volaire And Andrade, Forral And de Dios Meet For Last Time In Shanghai

The Carlton is offering tomorrow night a most unusual thing, in an endeavor to fill the house to breaking capacity with a fine fight program at specially reduced prices. Eight youngsters, all of whom are either main or special eventers, are booked for a rough evening which is topped by Andrade and Volaire, the two sluggers who have already astonished the natives twice by their positive liking for and ability to absorb punishment, combined with their scornful disdain of anything so mollycoddlish as warding off a blow.

This is the last time to see these fine young lightweights in action here, as they are returning to Manila shortly, together with a bunch of others who will also appear in the ring here tomorrow for the last time. Among these are Benny Forral and Faustino de Dios, who will meet in special event, which should be a hummer if Benny fights as he did last week, and Faustino uses all his speed and cleverness as he used to do. Flores and Pete, two boys above the general run of ham-and-eggers, will meet in the second event, and the curtain-raiser will be between Fighting Fernan and Hilario, to whom the same remarks apply. These last two are also due to leave for Manila.

SPECIAL PRICES

Tomorrow's fights will be in the nature of a benefit performance for the departing guests, which also includes de Dios and Forral (Benny may go to America), and in order to get a house such as a program of this kind deserves it has been decided to make special reductions in prices. Admission charges will be $3 and $2 for most of the house, while twenty seats will be sold at $1 each—first come first served.

Altogether, if the Carlton fails to pack the house with a program and prices like this there's something wrong with Shanghai. Thirty-four rounds of good scrapping are scheduled, and though it isn't likely to go the whole number, whatever there is of it promises to be good.

PORTUGUESE MEET S. R. C. SATURDAY IN LEAGUE GAME

Navy vs. Xavier And School vs. Germans In Div. 2; Fraser Shield Sunday

The coming week-end brings some extremely interesting matches in the Football League. In the First Division the Police will meet the Club, while the Portuguese will play the Recs. It will be remembered that the Portuguese in their last game unexpectedly stopped the Marine Engineers, and in fact came very close to winning from them, so it will be very interesting to see what they can do against the Recs.

The Second Division promises contests fully as exciting. The biggest game will be between St. Xavier and the Navy. The Navy leads the League so far, their first set-back being the unexpected one at the hands of the Germans last Saturday. St. Xavier's are also doing splendid work, and have had but one goal scored against them in the three games played to date. The Public School, also a strong eleven, will meet the Germans, who defeated the Navy last week. Both of these teams are going along splendidly, and either are possibilities as Second Division leaders, of which they are within striking distance now, as may be seen from the table below.

On Sunday there will be two games for the Fraser Shield. The Portuguese Company will play the Engineers at Hongkew Park, and the Artillery will meet the Scottish at Pioneer Field. As will be noted from the schedule below, showing the draws for the various competitions, the winner of the first of these matches is to meet the "A" Company on January 4, while the winner of the Scottish-Artillery game is to play the Machine Gunners.

The official fixtures for Saturday next Dec. 6 are as follows:

U.S. Court Hears Suit Of Master Of Seized Arms Ship

The case was heard yesterday in the United States Court for China, before Judge Milton D. Purdy, in which Charles Lorentzen libelled the sailing vessel W. H. Talbot, which figured largely in an arms seizure by the Customs early in July last, for the purpose of recovering his own wages, and various sums for wages for the crew and for work done on the ship amounting in all to over Mex. $5,436.30.

Mr. R. S. Haskell appeared for the libellant, and Mr. H. R. Snyder for the owner of the vessel

Mr. Snyder atated that most of the items claimed for were admitted by the defendant, but that it was contended that the libellant had engaged more men than were necessary to secure the safety of the ship, and that Capt. Lorentzen had exceeded his authority in ordering repairs done to the ship. Counsel pointed out that the ship was brought across the Pacific with eleven men in the crew, while the libellant had engaged 23 while the vessel lay idle in harbor.

The libellant in the witness stand stated that his crew was Chinese and that he required two Chinese to do the work of any one white man. He also defended his action by stating that he had to care for the vessel during the typhoon season.

The case was taken under advisement.

Democrats Hurl Attack On Mr. Coolidge On Oil

Washington, Oct. 16.—In three statements issued today the Democratic National Committee characterised the recent White House visit of Francis B. Loomis, Vice President of the Standard Oil Company of California, as indicative of friendly relations between the President and a defendant corporation in the naval oil suits, charged the Department of Justice with delaying the prosecution of Charles R. Forbes, former head of the Veterans' Bureau, and declared John W. Davis would get substantial support from veterans of the World War and the Civil War.

Declaring that "the bonds of friendship between the Standard Oil of California and President Coolidge apparently have not suffered by the suit which the President was forced to prosecute against that company in connection with the drilling of Section 36 of the Naval Oil Reserve," the Democratic statement continued:

"The politics that Mr. Loomis talked with President Coolidge was to the effect that Coolidge would carry California and that the opposition to Mr. Coolidge was only superficial and was confined almost entirely to the northern part of the State.

"Why shouldn't Loomis carry grateful, if rather inaccurate, information to the White House? Why shouldn't the Standard Oil of California feel grateful to the Coolidge Administration? Didn't the company of which Loomis is Vice President take $10,000 worth of oil out of Section 36? And didn't Daugherty stop his Special Assistant from enjoining the Standard Oil Company of California from further taking more oil out of Section 36 of the naval reserve?

BRING UP LOOMIS'S NAME IN SUIT

"The smirch of the Standard Oil of California on the Republican Administration is laid bare in the testimony of Leslie C. Garnett, Special Assistant to the Attorney General in the Senate oil fraud hearings. Mr. Garnett, after citing a memorandum that he put up to Daugherty urging the institution of injunction proceedings against the oil company, testifies that Loomis—the same Loomis who has just carried California for Coolidge—came to him with a letter in Daugherty's own handwriting ordering Barnett to hold up the proposed suit.

"The Standard Oil of California has its clutches on two sections of the naval oil reserve. It has taken out $10,000,000 worth of oil from one of them. The Administration had been forced by public opinion to start the prosecution that Daugherty had held up.

"The four joyous years of loot and privilege under the Republican regime are nearing their end. The spectacle of the chief beneficiaries of this four-year epoch of loot and favoritism consorting with the President of the United States over his chances of re-election intensifies the national disgust. There will be no sleeping at the switch on Nov. 4."

BLAME COOLIDGE FOR FORBES DELAY

Chairman Clem L. Shaver, charging delay in the prosecution of Forbes, said:

"Trials of Charles R. Forbes, former Director of the Veterans' Bureau, have been postponed at the instance of the Coolidge Administration until after the Presidential election.

"The trial of Forbes under an indictment returned by a Grand Jury in Maryland was scheduled for Oct. 14. On the same date another case against him was to have been tried in Chicago. The trial of the case in Maryland has been deferred until after Jan. 1, 1925, and that in Chicago until Nov. 24.

"Postponement of the trial in Maryland was ordered by Judge Soper of the Federal District Court on motion of United States District Attorney Woodcock in the face of a protest from the attorneys for Forbes. Judge Carpenter of the Federal court in Chicago justified his action in resetting the trial on the ground that the case had taken on perhaps a more or less political aspect.

"The effort of the Coolidge Administration to prevent the trial of the Forbes cases in the closing days of the campaign is indirect contradiction to the promise that President Coolidge gave the people last February when he was making a political speech before the National Republican Club in New York.

Referring to the numerous instances of corruption in the Administration then under of puplic discussion, President Coolidge said:

"There will be immediate, adequate, unshrinking prosecution, criminal and civil, to punish the guilty and to protect every national interest.

"Now the Department of Justice, whose head is a member of the President's Cabinet, on its own initiative and despite the objections of the attorneys for Forbes, has delayed the trial of this former Republican official.

"The explanation is probably to be found in the fear of the Republican Administration that the frightful management of the Veterans' Bureau will be revealed in the testimony.

"President Coolidge could have prevented the postponement of the Forbes trial in the court at Baltimore. He had control, through his Attorney General, of the local District Attorney. But he is evidently not willing in this specific instance to make good the promises he uttered in his political speech eight months ago."

French Toy Fair Holds Private Opening; Consuls And Officials Are Guests

A large company of distinguished guests journeyed to Verdun Gardens yesterday for the private opening of the French Toy Fair. Consuls of the various nations represented in Shanghai, members of the French Municipal Council, the Shanghai Municipal Council, principals of French and British schools, bank officials and representatives of the principal commercial organisations here, as well as several Jesuit priests and lay brothers from Siccawei and scholastic institutions were present at the reception.

Monsieur Le Bris, a member of the committee of the Alliance Nationale Francaise, which is sponsoring the Fair, for the benefit of destitute families in France, made a brief speech, as follows:

"I do not want to inflict you with a long speech but in the name of the Alliance Nationale and the local committee I should like to thank you very sincerely for honoring us by your presence at this little private ceremony to inaugurate the Fete du Jouet. This is the second exhibition of this kind that we have held. Doubtless, you still remember the Alsatian fair which last year on a similar occasion was held at the French Municipal Hall. This year, the problem was more difficult and as the Municipal Hall is not available it was necessary to find another place. The circus structure immediately attracted the attention of the committee and once the choice was made all our artists, whom I will not name individually, came to our assistance and we built this temporary Casino which you have come to admire. I must thank them and congratulate them on their work; they have spared neither their time nor trouble, and the greatest reward they can have, I feel sure, will be to see the large crowd which we hope will fill this pretty place.

MANY ASSISTED

"I will not omit from the list of our benefactors the members of the Municipal Council who took us into their confidence and enabled us to acquire these pretty toys by a loan without interest; the Tramways Company who, not content with giving us the electric current free of charge, have allowed us to secure publicity on the cars, thanks to the generosity of the Oriental Press and the Nestles Anglo-Swiss Company and the B.A.T., contractors of the publicity; also the Shanghai Tramways, who have given us the same publicity privileges on their cars for the duration of the exhibitation; all the business houses who have sacrificed to us a part of their publicity in the newspapers; the ladies and girls who have replied to the invitation of Madame Meyrier and have offered to come and sell the toys and finally, Mme. Sapognikof to whom we owe the magnificent canvases with which the room is covered.

"Perhaps I have forgotten some assistants but I hope they will pardon me. The work which we are doing is eminently charitable. We seek to bring a little joy into the homes of the poor. Shanghai children, while amusing themselves, will be able to help their less fortunate brothers and sisters.

"In conclusion, I would say this to you: Say as many good things as you can for our effort so that from the four corners of the city we shall see all the children flock to this fair."

ALL IS NOW READY

After M. Le Bris' speech champagne and light refreshments were served and the many guests wandered about the attractive Casino to inspect the many rustic, ivy-garlanded booths where charming toys from the homeland are displayed.

All is now in readiness for the formal opening tomorrow at 3 p.m. Announcement was made yesterday of a slight change in the time. The Fair will continue from 3 to 8 o'clock instead of from 3 to 7 as previously announced. This is in order to give the children a few hours' uninterrupted play in the afternoon and to reserve the hours from 5 to 8 for the tea dansant.

A fine floor has been laid in the center of the Casino and dancing should be very pleasant, inasmuch as the music and setting are so good. For the night of the 11th, when a grand costume ball will be given to close the fair, a special card room has been prepared and here baccarat, bridge, mah jongg and games may be enjoyed.

The Casino has been beautifully decorated with soft yellow and red lanterns which cast a mellow glow over the greenery. The winding paths beside the rustic booths where the toys are displayed are flanked with great masses of red poinsettas and russet chrysanthemums while ivy and other creepers twine about pillars and supports everywhere.

ATTRACTIVE TOYS

A really wonderful assortment of attractive toys has been secured and children who are fortunate enough to be taken to the Fair will be delighted with the showing. Dolls of all sizes and types, hoops, balls, games, books, stuffed animals representing the more popular animals—dogs, elephants, teddy bears, etc. —leather pencil cases full of a miscellaneous assortment of pencils, paint boxes, miniature silver tea services for dolls, toilet sets for dolls, cradles, furniture for the doll family's home and the entire array of playthings that go to make children happy are to be found at the fair. A miscellaneous assortment will be found at each booth which seems to be a wiser plan than that followed heretofore, of having the toys classified and displayed at separate booths.

Admission to the fair will be $1 for adults and 20 cents for children. Tickets of $1 will be sold in booklets of ten or five tickets, which the children may use for their games or for their "shopping."

WHAT TO DO FOR YOUR HAEMORRHOIDS.

Any doctor will tell you that constipation aggravates Piles. When the intestines are not working freely and regularly the Piles are torn and irritated afresh every time there is activity and so they cannot heal. This pain and discomfort can be overcome by the occasional use of Pinkettes, the mild little laxatives which, acting gently and naturally, ensure daily regularity, thus giving the Piles a fair opportunity to dry up and disappear. All chemists sell Pinkettes, or post free 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

Filipino Club Holds First Get-Together

"The Filipino Circle," the newest Shanghai club, organised only a few months ago held its first get-together luncheon at the residence of Mr. M. A. Rosario, 18 Range Road. Filipinos sojourning in Shanghai are members. More than 200 Filipinos are in Shanghai at present. About one-fourth of the Filipino population are members of the club now. The club has a double purpose, to represent the Filipino community in Shanghai socially and commercially. Talks at the Sunday meeting were made by President J. G. Torrado, and Dr. G. Kalambakal. A musical program was given by Miss Madaleine M. Tapia, Miss Isabel L. Macain and Miss San Juan.

Fight On Opium Evil To Be Carried Into Homes And Schools Of China

Practical Suppression Methods Introduced In Effort To Better Work Of Geneva Conference Throughout Provinces

The fight on the opium evil is to be taken into the schools and homes of China for practical suppression methods instead of merely stirring up public opinion through the Geneva conference, too far away for quick results.

The National Anti-Opium Association of China is preparing the campaign. A budget of $10,000 has been provided for and a full time secretary is to be employed.

A mass meeting for the Shanghai community will be held Sunday, December 7 at the local Y.M.C.A.

It is expected that a national anti-opium conference will be held next spring.

Steps have been taken to organise an investigation committee in conjunction with the government.

The Association for the Advancement of Education and the National Educational Association have agreed to include stories on the opium evil in text books for primary schools.

According to the latest statistics, the National Anti-Opium Association is having a far-reaching response from the nation. 700 cities in 24 provinces observed the National Anti-Opium Day, September 28, and 230 centers have organised for a fight against opium. The petition of the association sent to the Geneva Conference and to the Peking government was signed by more than 2,000 organisations in the different provinces, representing 2,000,000 people. Thirty or forty responses to the petition are still coming in every day. Public opinion has been awakened in China for the first time.

Members of some of the branch associations have begun to fight against the compulsory planting of the poppy. A few weeks ago a leader in the Anti-Opium Movement in the Province of Fukien was arrested by local officers for stirring up the people against the order to plant the poppy. But as public opinion was so strong against the action of the local officer, the leader was released and the officer was put out of his position by the civil governor of Fukien.

The Association has sent several representatives to different provinces to promote the Anti-Opium Movement. Mr. M. T. Tchou, National Committee of the Y.M.C.A., was sent to Fukien and Kwangtung on behalf of the Association and started a movement in Hongkong. Dr. Herman C. E. Liu went to Hupeh, Honan, Kiangsi and Anhwei. However, on account of the political disturbances he was unable to go to all of the places he had intended to visit. Mr. L. T. Chen went to Shantung, Chihli, Fengtien and Kirin and found that the people in those provinces are ready to respond to the movement. Miss May Chang of the Women's Christian Temperance Union went to Ningpo and founded a branch Association. The Association has also asked Rev. K. T. Chung to promote the movement in west China on his proposed trip to Szechuen.

The Association has requested its President Mr. George C. Hsu, on his trip to Peking, to secure the help of the various political leaders in this movment, especially to include the opium problem in the forthcoming round table conference and also to ask the Cabinet and the Minister of Foreign Affairs to instruct their delegates at the Geneva Conference to express the firm decision of the Chinese government against opium planting and at the same time to call the attention of the different nations to the necessity of their cooperation in doing away with the narcotic evil. All of these requests have been granted. The Prime Minister has already instructed the Minister of the Interior to call a preliminary "Opium Conference," in order to make recommendations regarding the proper measures to be taken for the suppression of opium.

The Association in its mass meeting of the Shanghai community, August 24, elected Chancellor Tsai Yuan-pei, Dr. Wu Lien-te and Mr. T. Z. Koo to be the peoples' representatives to the Geneva Conference. Unfortunately both Chancellor Tsai and Dr. Wu were not able to attend the Conference on account of previous engagements and so only Mr. Koo attended the meeting. The government was represented by Minister Alfred S. Sze.

Turbine And Oil-Driven Engines Crowding Out Reciprocating Models

Interesting Points Discussed By Mr. A. W. Brankston Before The Engineering Society Of China

That the coal driven reciprocating steam engine cannot hold its own against the turbine, and oil driven engines, was the conclusion reached by Mr. A. W. Brankston, M. I. M. E., managing director of the New Engineering & Shipbuilding Works, Ltd., in an address delivered before the Engineering Society of China (of which he is the president) at the Old Carlton Cafe yesterday afternoon.

The points brought out by Mr. Brankston are of great importance to the large engineering community in Shanghai, and in other parts of China, as the following extracts from the address will show:

ECONOMICAL POWER

The quest for economy in developing "Power" still continues with unabated vigor, there was a World's Conference on this subject at the British Empire Exhibition. In all over 300 papers dealing with Power in all its phases, utilities and applications were considered by the representatives of between 30 and 40 nations. The matter of shipbuilding from a Standard point of view was brought forward and one of the most prominent shipowners in the world explained why he dissented from Standardisation, every shipowner should study his own particular trade and keep date voyage after voyage in order to determine how much of what was new in the way of ideas could be usefully applied, to reject that which was not conducive to profitable and efficient running and to pass on the selected data to his shop designer and shipbuilder.

The shipowner generally makes use of the competitive element in ship designing and building, sending his inquiries to a number of firms who specialise in building the class of vessel required, he thus obtains the benefit of their combined experience as well as his own, the firm which can produce the most economical running and cheapest produced vessel usually obtains the order.

It would seem that before many years are past there will be very great changes in fuel used for producing power, the great increase in the number of Diesel and other oil engines used in driving ships, factories and power plants will lessen the demand for coal, as is the case in Great Britain at the present moment, thousands of miners are idle and many pits are laid in, of course the miner's strike about 4 years ago, undoubtedly did the coal trade a great deal of harm, the leaders of the Unions persuaded the men that coal was indispensable and that if they stuck out for higher pay and shorter hours, the masters would have to grant their demands, this state of affairs precipitated the change in power plants from Coal to Oil.

Fortunately, certain men have been studying the utilisation of the bye products of coal for many years and it seems as though coal mines will come into their own again, as it is improbable that there are inexhaustible supplies of oil in the World.

SMOKELESS FUEL

In the address which I read to you last year, I mentioned about the production of a smokeless fuel by Low Temperature Carbonisation. The utilisation of which has been helped along by the Nottingham Corporation, who trust in the course of time to render their city almost smokeless. They have concluded a contract for a supply of gas by a process which leaves residues of oil and smokeless fuel will it is claimed, enable coal to do twice the work it has hitherto performed. The exact nature of the method was explained in an interview by the Managing Director of the "Digby Main Colliery Co., Ltd.," who are supplying the gas plant with coal for the enterprise.

A ton of coal is approximately doubled in value by this Low Temperature Carbonisation treatment. The diligence of British scientists, and the enterprise of business men, has perfected a system by which the last item of value in coal can be extracted. By treating raw coal in closed retorts, crude oil is drawn out of the coal, leaving a residue of solid smokeless fuel which is equal in value to the coal from which it was manufactured. The operation is done in one process, and so eliminates the costly methods which up to now have prevented coal treatment from being a commercial proposition.

Just as the invention of steam combined with the presence of cheap coal built up the great industrial centers of Great Britain so during the present generation a new impetus has now been given to British industrial enterprises by the cheap production of power.

BENZENE AS A "USELESS" PRODUCT

Many years ago, I remember meeting a geologist in Shanghai who was on a holiday from Sumatra and Borneo where he was engaged by the "Shell" Company. In the course of conversation he mentioned the difficulty they had of disposing of the residue matter from crude oil after the kerosene had been extracted, part of which residue had to be pumped into the sea or burned as it was almost entirely unmarketable. Now a very different state of affairs exists, benzine which used to be thrown away, is now the most valuable product.

The Shell Company was one of the first to try seriously to use oil as fuel on their steamers, now that oil burning is an accomplished fact its enormous advantage over coal has been demonstrated to the World. Our fastest liners have been able to increase their speed very considerably, notable in the case of the "MAURETANIA" which since she was converted to an oil burner is able to beat her own records and maintain her reputation as the fastest liner afloat.

CHEAP ELECTRICITY

Another scheme for generating cheap electricity for Essex towns is the use of Tidal Power in the Mersea Waters. Other important developments of cheap electricity are huge units. I would mention three plants recently constructed, viz: A Turbo Alternator for the Sydney N. S. W. Municipality built at the Witton Works of the General Electric Co., Ltd., this set has an output of 16,000 K. V. A. at a pressure of 5,400 Volts when running at a speed of 3,000 R. P. M. The total weight of the alternator is just over 80 tons, the stator weighing 50 tons, the transport of this set to the Manchester Docks taxed the Railway Company's resources to the utmost and reflected great credit on the experts in transport, whom the L. M. & S. Railway sent to ensure that no hitch should occur. The Metropolitan Vickers Company have supplied a 17,500 K. W. at 5,000 R. P. M. to the same station.

Another very large undertaking is the building of the biggest turbine in the world at Messrs. C. A. Parsons & Co., Ltd.'s Heaton Works. It has been ordered by the Commonwealth Edison Co. of Chicago, who in 1912 ordered from the same firm a 25,000 kwatt set, which was the largest unit made up to that time and which is still running satisfactorily.

The Chicago Company demonstrated their confidence in the builders by placing the last order without requiring any guarantees whatever for efficiency, and a lot of development work has been carried out in connection with the latest set.

This machine will have a total capacity of 50,000 K. Ws. and will consist of three turbines in series on the steam, each driving its own alternator, the whole working as one machine with the alternators in parallel. This is a 60 frequency plant with the H.P. and I.P. turbines running at 1,800 R.P.M. and the L.P. turbine running at 720 R.P.M. The twin surface condensers which have vertical tubes were designed and manufactured at Heaton Works. The steam conditions are 550 lbs. gauge at the stop valve superheated to 750° F. before entering the intermediate pressure cylinder. The feed water heating by withdrawing steam from the turbine blading will be carried out up to a temperature of 315° F."

PARSONS TURBINES IN CHICAGO

Messrs. Parsons have endeavored to build the best set they possibly can and it is hoped that this latest turbo alternator will give an overall efficiency from coal to electricity of 27.8 percent. The set is to be placed in the great new power station in Crawford Avenue, which will give the City of Chicago its power of lighting, the running of tram cars, for refrigeration and for general purposes.

The weight of the set is about 600 tons, the heaviest lift, the stator is 79 tons and the Low Pressure Turbine Shaft weighs 70 tons.

This shaft with its discs on was found to be too big to move down from the Heaton Works to Newcastle Quay, the shaft therefore had to be sent down to the North Eastern Marine Company's Quay at Wallsend, the bladed discs being put on at their works under the supervision of the builders.

It is interesting to note that the first turbine to surpass any other steam engine in economy of steam and fuel, was built in 1892 and used for lighting the city of Cambridge. It was of 200 H. P. and opened the ways to the world wide application of the steam engine for the generation of electricity and the propulsion of ships.

Three years later the machinery for the first turbine driven vessels was designed and constructed at Heaton, and the Parsons Marine Steam Turbine Company was formed to develop this system.

Turbines are now being built all the world over under licences from Messrs. C. A. Parsons & Co. and an indication of the vast expansion of recent years is in the statement that this Company and its licencees have built up to date 20,000,000 kilowatts of reaction steam turbines for land use alone.

Local Cotton Spinning Mills All Running On Full Time

Disorder In Interior Proves Boon For Mills And Workers Both

As mentioned in The China Press last Sunday in connection with the opening of the new Wing On Cotton Spinning Mill at Yangtszepoo, there is something of a boom on in local cotton spinning circles, as a result of the disorders in the interior closing down the mills. The result has been that the business which ordinarily would be handled to a great extent by mills in the interior has been deflected to the mills here, safe under foreign protection.

Almost without exception the Shanghai mills, both native and foreign have resumed full operations, giving work to above twenty thousand employees who had been idle for some months. Thus has the local cotton spinning industry once more become prosperous, and it remains to be seen how long the disorders in the interior will prevent the mills there from resuming operations, or even if they do, what effect their opening will have on the mills here.

Weather Reports

Dec. 1.—Anticyclone in Central China; the depression of the N. moves away on the Kuriles; the typhoon moves towards WNW by the S of the Macclesfields and of the Paracels. Strong cyclonic winds around those two low centres; the monsoon is fresh along our coasts, very hard at the Pescadores and in S Formosa. Fine and cold weather, cloudy during the afternoon. Overcast or rainy weather in the Philippines; fog in Annam and Tongking.

Dec. 2.—Weather fine, clear and milder. The pressure is falling below the normal level. Easterly breezes. A depression approaches N. China across Mongolia.

Dec. 3.—The Northern depression will cross Mongolia S-E'ds. Southerly winds veering to S-W to the North of the 30th. parallel. Moderate or fresh monsoon in the South. The typhoon will recurve Northwards, and perhaps N-E'wards, between the Macclesfields and the Paracels. Rough weather to the South of the Formosa Strait.

The Way To Destroy A Nation!

CHINA should be in a better position than most countries to realise the causes which bring about the destruction of nations as independent political entities. Korea, Annam, India all lost their national existence because of the impossibility of their peoples to govern themselves. We believe it was the sage Mencius who said in effect that in order to destroy a man, he must first destroy himself; to destroy a family it must first destroy itself; and to destroy a nation it must first destroy itself.

Most persons familiar with the histories of Oriental nations know that it was internal discord which had more to do with the loss of political independence of Korea, India and Annam, than outside force. The foreigner was able to come in because the peoples of these countries had so weakened themselves through internal discord that they were unable to offer united opposition, and the foreigner remains largely because the elements of internal discord still persist and for the further reason that the foreigner is able to provide better security and government than the peoples themselves could provide. To take another case, a prominent Filipino once declared before a committee of the U. S. Congress that he would rather live under a government run like hell by Filipinos than one run like heaven by the United States, but in spite of this brave declaration it is the knowledge that hell soon would break loose in the Islands between the races which populate the Philippine Group, which chiefly keeps the United States in this part of the world as a colonial administrator.

With these conditions all about their country, it should be apparent to intelligent Chinese that a continuance of the present disorder is bound to result in loss of political independence in spite of everything China's friends can do to establish China's integrity as an independent nation. For example less than three years ago the leading Powers, upon the invitation of the United States, assembled in Washington and unanimously agreed upon the principle of China's political, administrative and territorial independence. But in spite of this historical action, what can the United States, alone or acting in cooperation with the other nations, do to help China if she destroys her own house?

The other day, for example, it was suggested in New York that the United States take the lead in trying to organise some kind of a "Dawes Plan" for the purpose of reorganising and stabilising the finances of China somewhat along the lines now being applied in respect to Germany, but American enthusiasm was immediately cooled when word was received that the Yangtsze militarists had proclaimed independence and were going to oppose Peking's efforts at unification even before they knew what they were going to be. Or to take another case, the American people could be quite easily induced to contribute liberally to the relief of the serious famine distress now existing in various parts of China, but nothing can be done to arouse enthusiasm for helping China as long as the leaders of China are intent only upon destroying the country.

Therefore it should be apparent to thinking Chinese that a continuance of the present turmoil can lead to but one thing and that is a loss of gains recently made in the direction of complete independence and if the turmoil is continued for an indefinite time, a complete loss of China's independence. It isn't necessary to speculate upon what may happen if the internal feudal warfare between military officials continues. Whether the Powers would go back to the sphere of influence policy, or whether they would finally get together on some form of cooperative control, no one can say, but that one or the other is inevitable if China's politicians and militarists continue their present destructive practices, goes without saying and this in spite of the best efforts of China's friends to save her from the madness of her own leaders.

It should not be necessary to remind intelligent Chinese of these dangers when they have examples about them of the disastrous results of continued internal discord in neighboring countries. The thing which brought the world to the side of Belgium at the beginning of the World War was the united opposition of the Belgians to outside aggression. Had one faction of the Belgians immediately started fighting other factions, or had one group sold out to the enemy, there would have been little response to the cry for assistance. The reason that many small states, weak in a military sense, are able to continue an independent existence in the midst of powerful armed neighbors on the continent of Europe is that they are united and are always able to rally their united resources for the common good in time of national danger.

China for some inexplanable reason apparently is not able to realise the importance of unity at this critical time. It is practically impossible to find a man of consequence who is willing or able to cooperate with any other man for the common good. The devils of private grudges and suspicions against personal enemies have so filled the minds of the rulers of the country that everything else has been excluded and as mentioned in the foregoing, the end is bound to be a deplorable loss for everybody unless something can be done to stop the present tendency.

ONE REASON WHY WU PEI-FU FAILED

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS:

Sir.—A good many people appear to be surprised that Marshal Wu Pei-fu lost the recent civil war, and some even go so far as to endeavor to show in the Press and elsewhere that: firstly, he did not lose the war, and secondly, that if he did must be regarded as a moral victory, presumably on account of the fact that it was the much criticised action of General Feng Yu-hsiang that gave real victory to the other side. The writer must confess to some doubt as to the accuracy of these special pleaders who instance Wu Pei-fu's bravery, which is undoubted, and his military skill, which is also considerable, as reasons why he would have succeeded in defeating the Mukden forces; for he is of the opinion that one man alone cannot win a war, either through courage or strategy.

From an observation of the struggle on the Shanhaikwan front it was evident that Marshal Chang Tso-lin was excellently well served by his generals and his staff officers, a thing which cannot be said of Marshal Wu, for with a few notable exceptions it would be difficult to pick a more incompetent entourage than was to be found on the Staff Train at Chinwangtao. To come from the abstract to concrete instances, one need only consider the single case of Mr. Li Sum-ling, Commissioner of Foreign Affairs for Honan. Secretary to Marshal Wu Pei-fu, in charge of the Bureau des Affaires Etrangeres on the Staff Train, Censor to the journalists accompanying the ill-fated expedition, and alleged acting correspondent to Reuter's News Agency.

This is the gentleman who was busily calling on the various Legations in Peking prior to the departure of Wu Pei-fu for the front, spreading information, which appears to have confused not a few who should have known better. This is the gentleman who had the handling of all the news, official or otherwise, which emanated from the filed headquarters at Chinwangtao, and through whom all who wished to interview Marshal Wu or his Chief of Staff had to negotiate. Even when the offensive proved a failure and Headquarters returned to Tientsin the activities of Mr. Li were by no means at an end, for it was he who flew hither and thither in the native city in an endeavor to raise a loan for the Chihli war-chest, varying this important duty with visits and calls upon consulates and newspaper offices.

It so happened that an important telegram sent out through the Censorship under Mr. Li suffered various alterations enroute to THE CHINA PRESS at Shanghai, and it was this fact coupled to a word or two of gossip, which induced the writer to make further enquiries as to the past pursuits of the undoubtedly able Cantonese who now functioned as Commissioner of Foreign Affairs for Honan. It appeared that the excellent Mr. Li Sum-ling first came into the limelight down in Hongkong some twenty years ago. Here an American tourist Mr. Gordon Bennett, publisher of the New York Herald sightseeing in the Far East, happened to lose a valuable gold cigarette case, for the return of which he offered a reward even in excess of its intrinsic value. Who but Mr. Li should be the one to discover its whereabouts and return it, a deed which so impressed the American that he eventually took Li Sum-ling back to the United States with him on his yacht and thus enabled the ambitions Cantonese to gain there that foreign speech and education on which he based his future fortunes. While there Mr. Li floated a company to operate in China in connection with a New York firm. A good many people in Tientsin became investors in or did business with this concern, but it was reported to have been unsuccessful and discontinued business. Some time in the course of his by no means dull career Mr. Li seems to have visited Peking, for a Chinese moving in official circles told the writer that he had on occasion certain official connections and once was appointed a delegate from China to the World's Press Conference but did not attend. This is but a brief sketch of Mr. Li, and does not profess to give the many details of his numerous adventures which are available, the intention being merely to afford the reader some idea of Li Sum-ling's versatile personality, in order that he may appreciate one, at least, of the possible reasons why Wu Pei-fu lost the war. Why the Marshal saw fit to appoint him to the important posts which Mr. Li recently held is a secret only known to himself, but it is a matter for great regret that so able and so likeable man as Marshal Wu has proved himself to be should waste his energies in bolstering up the Tsao family, and stultify his own chances for success by surrounding himself with an entourage which will include the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs for Honan.

LAWRENCE IMPEY.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

There is reason for hope, there is cause
To attempt to be helping along,
Though rich men may wink at the laws,
And the army of sinners is strong;
There is reason for pushing ahead
And for keeping the torches ablaze,
Though the timid are shrinking in dread
And it still can be truthfully said
That roguery pays.

There is reason for faith and for hope,
And for lending a hand to mankind,
Though oft in the darkness we grope,
And often our leaders are blind;
The bosses keep pulling the strings,
And the puppets continue to dance;
The world's full of troublesome things,
But always each morning still brings
Another new chance.

There are fools who are clinging to hate,
There are braggarts and bigots and cheats
The little bow low to the great,
True worth suffers many defeats;
The wicked go free, while the just
Are halted for speeding, and fined;
There is plenty of cause for disgust,
But there's reason for hope and for trust
And words that are kind.

There are villains who traffic in hope
And rascals who furnish bad booze,
But don't be relinquishing hope,
Tomorrow may bring us good news;
Cease grieving o'er chances you've lost,
And banish the lines from your brow;
Some peaches are saved from the frost,
And remember that hope doesn't cost
A cent, anyhow.

Other Views Than Ours On The War In China

CHINA'S PROFITLESS FIGHTING

(New Haven, Conn. Journal-Courier)

The fighting about Shanghai goes on, and war is more sanguinary business among the Chinese than before foreign drill masters and modern killing equipment took their place as a part of the social life of the people. The soldier until of late held a despicable place in the social scale. He was regarded as the scum of the earth. Sometimes untutored foreigners introduced to native schools urged the young people to be "brave, heroic, true soldiers" and their teachers had a task afterward in explaining the incomprehensible mystery. But uniforms have now been put on the coolies, athletics keep the troops in condition, the snappy salute, smart appearance and all the romance of the profession have given it a new status, and generals, ranging all the way from the old-fashioned bandit to Dr. Sun and other "Liberators," appeal to the masses to "follow me" to human liberty and all sorts of pretty heights.

Soldiering has been organised in China and become respectable. Just as an official should have an educational department and a treasurer and a "commissioner of foreign affairs," usually some American-educated student who can speak English, so no yamen is now complete without some soldiers on the foreign model, and one in high authority gets himself measured for an army. And these larger armies are no longer altogether absurd. They do not know what they are fighting for, and the old Chinese unwillingness to incur physical risk persists; but with their machine guns they can and do net mortality results. Some four thousand dead lay about Shanghai the other day.

The foreign groups in the coast ports of China are but a handful but they know how to protect themselves in these times of convulsion, indeed the danger consists wholly in stray bullets from the stupid armies popping at each other. At the time of the Revolution of 1911, some shots dropped on Hankow concession where the foreign merchants lived and the consulates are located. A sharp protest brought a formal call from a joint delegation of both armies. "We Chinese," the visitors said respectfully, "are unfamiliar with war. You foreigners know about it and can instruct us. We have no wish to inconvenience you. We venture to request that in your larger knowledge of such things you select a fitting place where we Chinese may conduct our war in accordance with the best usages and cease to be a nuisance to you, our mutual friends." It was a pathetic, significant interview, one of those flash lights from the heart of humanity which makes the all-tremendous Occidental wonder if he is so much more "advanced" after all.

How Stars Influence The Mind

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Go out under the stars tonight, tomorrow night, the first night that they shine clear, and surrender yourself to their thrilling influence. "From all quarters Heaven speaks to man." That sublime thought of the poet-astronomer Aratus, written down nearly 2,200 years ago, is approved by science. The audition of the human soul comprehends the subtle vibrations of light as does that of the physical ear the coarser undulations of sound.

The voices of the stars are infinite in range. Their luminous speech has a million tones. It comes across the ethereal ocean in ripples a 40,000th, a 50,000th, a 60,000th of an inch in breadth which, as through the eye they break upon the brain, convey a meaning that the tongue cannot render but the spirit understands.

Not only poets, philosophers, thinkers, but busy men and women, workers of all kinds and in all occupations, when they lift up their eyes to the starry heavens, know well that the universe is speaking to them. No other voice commands consolation and smooths away trouble like that one—a voice that is felt, not heard. "Through the transparent darkness," says Emerson, "the stars pour their almost spiritual rays. Man under them seems a child, and his huge globe a toy. The cool night bathes the world as with a river."

If you cannot distinguish the voice of God amid the clatter of your daily affairs; if it is inaudible to you in what are called His temples, erected by the hands of man, then go out and listen, for it as nightly it falls through translucent space from Sirius, Arcturus, Aldebaran, Vega, Polaris, the clustered suns of Hercules, and the astounding star clouds of the Milky Way. If you find no revelation of the Infinte in sacred books, or in doctrinal devotions, seek it under the illimitable dome that covers and includes everything.

"The heavens declare the glory of God,
And the firmament sheweth his handiwork.
Day unto day uttereth speech,
And night unto night sheweth knowledge.
There is no speech nor language
Where their voice is not heard."

Aratus put the equivalent of all that in his one line. To feel the truth of it is worth all the stupendous facts of astronomy. It is of the very essence of religion, and its recognition gave rise to the saying that "the undevout astronomer is mad." When you are weary, disappointed, discouraged, disheartened, deserted—go out under the stars, and look up at the universe. It is a universal medicine, calming, recreating, stimulating, a tonic for heart and mind.

I am not sure that a knowledge of astronomy and an acquaintance with uranography ("geography of the heavens") add greatly to the influence of the spectacle of the star-strewn firmament for even those who are totally destitute of such knowledge seem to feel that influence by an instinctive response of their inmost nature. It is in this sense that we should interpret Shakespeare's apparent sneer at the astronomers:

"These earthly godfathers of heaven's lights
That give a name to every fixed star
Have no more profit of their shining nights
Than those that walk and wat not what they are."

He did not mean that "those that walk" under the spangled curtain of night should or could, disregard the stars, but only that they were not prevented from admiring and wondering at the celestial pageant by their ignorance of the names of stars and constellations. In a hundred places he has shown his poetic appreciation of astronomic lore. In one of the Falstaff plays he makes a rustic carrier tell the approach of dawn by the position of "Charles' Wane" (the Great Dipper), over the chimney.

One of the most thrilling things in "Hamlet" is the scene where the ghost of the dead king makes its first appearance before the audience. A star (which might be certainly identified if we knew the exact hour of night and time of year intended) plays an impressive part in the background of the drama. Says Bernardo to the skeptical Horatio:

"Last night of all,
When yond same star that's westward from the pole
Has made his course to illumine that part of heaven
Where now it burns, Marcellus and myself,
The bell then beating one'——(enter ghost).

Mar—"Peace, break thee off! Look, where it comes again."

With the opening of Summer the aspect of the night sky undergoes a subtle change, in accord with the seasonal alteration of the landscapes. This change is largely effected by the more conspicuous location to the Milky Way, which on a midsummer midnight spans the sky from northeast, past the zenith, to southwest, some of its most brilliant reaches being in view nearly all night. The soft, misty quality of its glowing light harmonizes with the atmospheric one of the season.

The great, first magnitude stars of Summer—Spica, Arcturus, Antares, Vega, Altair, Deneb—shine with less piercing rays than the Winter brilliants—Sirius, Rigel, Betelguese, Aldebaran, Capella, Procyon, as if their light came through a denser medium; and that, indeed, is the fact, for the air is more charged with haze, which not merely obstructs but stains the starlight.

On a hot Summer night, Antares, naturally a reddish star, gleams and flickers over the turbid southern horizon like a veritable "star in flames." Every one of the stars that we have named is a giant compared with the sun. He is not in their class. But their greatness runs through a vast range. Aldebaran would make fifty suns; Vega a hundred; Arcturus a thousand; Deneb (Al Dhanab), ten thousand. Yet, Deneb is to our eyes the faintest of the set—so illimitable are the star depths.

Once Overs

BY J. J. MUNDY

Self-Control is a Valuable Characteristic to Cultivate

What do you gain when you get angry, talk loud, unthinkingly and say cruel things? In other words, what do you gain when you lose control of yourself.

As a result you usually lose the point you are trying to gain.

When you are at the point where you are merely talking and not thinking, you lose.

The calm, collected person, the one who weighs his words is victorious.

The next time you become angry and you raise your voice to a high pitch realise that your temper is getting the best of you and calm down.

Getting "fighting mad" does not get you what you want. It merely lets off steam.

You have lost your punch and your case when you take this method.

Self-control wins and that is what you really wish to acquire, isn't it?

Think of the many times you have lost your temper and you will be convinced that calm self-control is to us a most valuable characteristic to cultivate?

The sooner you begin to practice it the better it will be for you.

Crippled by Corns? Use "Gets-It"

The only good corn is a dead corn. A few drops of "Gets-It" will quickly start any corn or callous on the way to "the happy hunting ground." "Gets-It" brings instant relief from all pain and hurting. One bottle contains enough "Gets-It" to remove a dozen corns, hard or soft, old or new. Costs you nothing if it fails—but it doesn't fail. Let your druggist tell you why millions demand it. E. Lawrence & Co., Mfr., Chicago.

Patchwork That Suggests Richly Colored Stained-Glass Windows Is Used for Trimming

Many a most charming trimming device has been originated as an outcome of effort toward economy. During war days when we were taught to make palatable soups from celery leaves and carrot tops and other tidbits that Americans usually throw away, our dressmakers, like the French dressmakers, turned into useful channels many a bit of material that would otherwise have been swept out of the workroom and packed into rubbish bags.

Certain very resplendent metallic embroidery much admired during war days was made in France from particles of metal discarded in the manufacture of ammunition and firearms.

But in the making of the present-day patchwork applique embroidery the thought of economy can have had nothing to do. For quite obviously the patches are made from silk that had to be cut up expressly for the purpose. An intricate blending of a dozen or more soft and unusual shades could not be the result of the utilisation of scraps from the work rooms!

The effect of this patchwork is more that of a stained glass window than actual quilt work when looked at from a little distance, and the blending is as soft and unconventional in appearance as the plumage of a peacock. There seems to be not the slightest design about it and no two of the pieces seem to be cut in quite the same shape.

The sketch shows one of these French gowns. It is an evening frock with a body of lustrous white satin and a skirt of silver cloth. A dozen shades, in pastel tones, are used in the patches.

There are hats, also, suggestive of stained-glass windows, made of patches of colored velvet mounted on a velvet-covered frame.

Evening dress with white satin bodice, silver cloth skirt. The satined-glass patches are in pastel shades.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

HOME MADE

Isn't it queer that a woman rather resents having another woman ask her if she made her own frock or trimmed her own hat, but takes it as a compliment if some one at dinner tells her that he is sure the cake or the bread is home made?

In other words it's a compliment, or it is supposed to be, to say that food dishes taste "home made"—but it is usually anything but a compliment to say that frocks or hats look home made. The thing to tell the home dressmaker or home milliner is that you certainly never would have dreamed that she trimmed that hat herself, that it looks exactly like one you saw in a window on Main Street, etc., etc.

One wonders how much longer this state of affairs will exist, and whether it is all as well grounded as we suppose. Professional cooking is getting steadily better, and home cooking isn't improving at quite the same rate of speed. There are still some men who are always surer of getting a better meal at home than they do when they lunch at their favorite restaurant—but not many. There are boys and girls who are better satisfied with the meals they buy over the cafeteria counter at the school lunch room than those served them in the home dining-room.

BOBBIE AND HIS PA

BY WM. F. KIRK

I asked my dad what is a Delly-gait to a Convention, & my dad sed a Delly-gait is a man wich picks out a other man to run for a offis.

Who picks out the Delly-gaits in the First place? I sed to my dad.

The grate common-welth, Bobbie, sed Pa, the noabel voaters.

& who picks out the noabel voters? I sed.

Nobody, Bobbie, sed Pa, they are always here. Of course, Bobbie, sed Pa, it is trew that sum of them voaters is moar noabler than others, sed Pa.

Yure deer father meens the lady voaters, Bobbie, sed Ma. How nice of him to say so.

I do not meen anything of the sort, sed Pa. I meen that sum voaters, mail & feemail alike, are better than other voaters, mail & feemail, sed Pa. Goodness is not a matter of Jender, sed Pa.

Who is Jender? I sed.

Jender meens mail or feemail, Bobbie, sed Pa.

So you do not think the wimmen voaters are moar sterling & upper-rite than what the gent voaters are, sed Ma.

Not at all, sed Pa. I do not think beeing honest & good is a matter of secks, sed Pa. Thare are many fine peepul of both secks, sed Pa, & many bumms, also, too, sed Pa.

You wud have much moar charm about you, sed Ma, if you left out the Bowry slang, sed Ma. That is a thing of the past, Ma sed, like the corner salune & the noabel Dis-tillery, sed Ma.

Is that rite, sed Pa. Wud you luv me moar if I had moar charm, sed Pa, even if it was possibel for me to have moar charm than what I have got alreddy, sed Pa.

Indeed, I wud, sed Ma. Everybody likes reefined & gentil pee pul.

It is hard for me to imajin myself one of them reefined & gentil geezers, sed Pa, but I will try for yure saik to be such, sed Pa.

For yure own saik, sed Ma, it is you yourself which will Benny-fit by it, sed Ma.

Shall I be reefined & gentil, too? I sed to Ma. Can't I soke no moar kids on the Beezer with my bunch of fives? I sed.

Bobby, sed Ma, perhaps you can lern to be ree-fined & gentil, but you will haf to mend yure ways a heep, sed Ma.

It seams to me that is about all there is to life, all the time mending our ways, it is funny how much ways need mending. I will now cloase & start mending my ways only I hoap the kids doant all call me a Sissy.

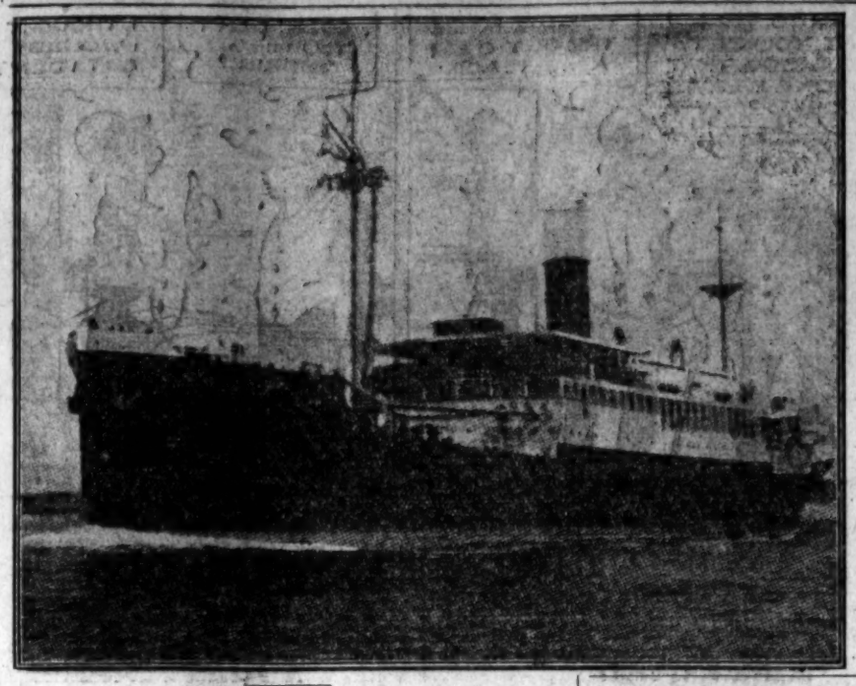
The Motor Vessel "City Of San Francisco"



Pacific Mail's Two New Motor Ships Were Built In Sweden

The "City Of San Francisco," One Of Two Of Similar Design, Operates Along Pacific Coast

The Pacific Mail Steamship Co., owns 10 steam cargo and passenger ships and one tanker, and as all operate from San Francisco as the home port, it is not surprising, says "Motor Ship," that oil fuel is used under the boilers in all cases. It is obvious that in services upon which these vessels engage, namely, coasting down the Pacific Coast to Panama, and through the canal to New York, also to Honolulu and Manila, the oil engine would show to remarkable financial advantage. When two new vessels were required, there could, therefore, scarcely be any other choice than motor craft. It is, however, of some interest to note that the order for these two new ships was placed in Sweden with Gotaverken, and it is stated that the "City of San Francisco," recently completed, represents the first large vessel which has been built in Sweden for American ownership.

The following are the main details of the "City of San Francisco":—

Length overall	314 ft. 6 ins.
Length b.p.	300 ft.
Breadth, moulded	45 ft. 9 ins.
Draught at summer freeboard	20 ft. 3 ins.
Machinery power	2,600 i.h.p.
Engine speed	2,150 tons.
Designed ship's speed	12 knots.
Passenger accommodation	59 first class 60 steerage.

The vessel is of the open shelter-deck type with poop, bridge and forecastle, and has been built to Lloyd's regulations. The engine-room is slightly aft of amidships, with a deep tank for fuel oil forward, whilst forward of this are two holds and a third hold aft of the engineroom. Some of the tanks in the double bottom are arranged for carrying fuel oil, whilst lubricating oil to the extent of 14 tons can be accommodated in two doublebottom tanks under the engine-room. There are six 5-ton electric winches—two for each hatch—and for dealing with heavier lifts a 25-ton derrick is fitted to the foremast.

The steering gear is of the all-electric type, manufactured by Donkin and Co., with Laurence Scott electrical equipment. It works on the Wheatstone Bridge principle, and is illustrated diagrammatically in the sketch on page 243. The resistance in the wheelhouse forms two sections of the bridge, and that in the steering-gear compartment the other two sections. There is a motor generator in the steering-gear house, and this is excited from a little machine on the same shaft, the field of which takes the place of the galvanometer in the usual Wheatstone Bridge. Normally, there is equilibrium in the resistances and no current flows through

American Mail Due This Afternon By 'Pres. Jefferson'

The Admiral Line steamer President Jefferson from Seattle via Victoria, B. C., Yokohama and Kobe has suffered a delay and instead of arriving as expected at daylight this morning will not be due to berth at the China Merchants Central Wharf until this afternoon about 5 o'clock. The liner has on board 1,499 sacks of mail, 1,100 tons of cargo. This steamer will leave for Hongkong and Manila at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

Carrying the next fast mails for America, the President Jackson and the Empress of Australia will leave Shanghai for Seattle and Vancouver next Monday. The Siberia Maru is to leave Woosung this evening. The dispatching tender with passengers for the Siberia will leave the Customs jetty at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and inbound passengers are expected to land about 9.30 a.m. today.

The mails by the Jackson and the Australia will arrive on the other side a day earlier than the mail going by the Siberia tomorrow, the latter boat going by the longer Hawaii route. The Jackson arrives at Seattle December 23, the Australia at Vancouver December 24, the Siberia at San Francisco December 25.

Mails for Europe via Suez will be dispatched on the M. M. steamer Angkor on Thursday closing at 9 p.m. today. Parcels should be posted before noon today. The Angkor will sail from the Whangpoo Wharf for Marseilles at 8 a.m. tomorrow.

the exciter. If, however, the wheel in the wheelhouse is turned, the sliding contact is moved and the electrical equilibrium is disturbed, so that current flows through the exciter field winding. This energizes the shunt of the motor generator, causing current to pass through the main steering-gear motor armature. This moves the rudder and the rudder rheostat until the position of the contact of this rheostat coincides with that of the wheelhouse rheostat. Current then ceases to flow through the exciter shunt and no more power is developed in the generator, so that the main steering-gear motor stops.

On the bridge deck is a smoking-room aft, adjoining a social or ladies' saloon, the latter being finished in mahogany and birch, whilst the smoke-room is panelled in dark oak. Two dining saloon is on the shelter deck forward, having seats for 46 people at small and large tables, and a verandah cafe is arranged at the end of the bridge deck. The accommodation for all of the 59 first-class passengers is amidships on the shelter and bridge decks, four cabins de luxe being arranged on the latter deck. A large dining-room for the steerage passengers is provided aft, with accommodation for them on the shelter and main decks, the maximum number carried being 60.

The captain and deck officers are located in cabins in the deck-house on the boat deck, with a hospital and wireless cabin aft on the same deck. The doctor and chief engineer, together with three assistant engineers, are berthed on the port side of the shelter deck, whilst the junior engineer and electrician have a cabin on the main deck. On this deck are also located the stewards. In all the cabins is an electric fire-alarm apparatus, and the fire-extinguishing plant is on the carbon-dioxide system, connected to all holds. The lifeboats are handled by Welin davits.

THE PROPELLING MACHINERY

There are two engines installed in the motor compartment. These are of the B. and W. four-cycle single-acting type built by Gotaverken, and each develop 1,300 i.h.p. at 130 r.p.m. They have six cylinders, 590 mm. bore (23¼ ins.), with a stroke of 900 mm. (45 7/16ths in.), and on trials gave a maximum speed of 12.76 knots. For supplying steam to the galleys and for hot water, as well as for heating the accommodation and driving an emergency air compressor, a Cochran donkey-boiler is installed. The remaining auxiliary machinery is electrically operated and there are three generators, each driven by a two-cylinder 100 h.p. Diesel engine, the output being 66 kw. at 220 volts, for operating the electric motors, and 110 volts for lighting. The Hall's refrigerating machinery is located in the engine-room. On trials, it was found that the fuel consumption was 10 percent below that guaranteed in the contract, and the general performance of the machinery was thoroughly satisfactory.

PEKING LOOKS TO CONFERENCE TO SOLVE FINANCES

Recognition By Powers Must Come First, However, Is Belief

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Nov. 30.—The present Government, which is facing the greatest financial barrier, appears to be looking forward to the convention of a financial conference, to be attended by representatives of Japan, Great Britain, the United States, and France, for the settlement of the foreign loans question.

Before this plan can be put in force however, the question of recognition of the present Government by the Powers should necessarily be settled.

As to the latter question, there are three proposals: (1) for unconditional recognition, (2) for recognition on the condition that the present government announces that it will fulfil China's international obligations, and (3) for recognition in exchange for a guaranty to be given by the government for the compulsory payment of China's debts.

At any rate, the Diplomatic Body is now in such a position that it cannot come to agreement in this matter without considerable difficulty.

In the above circumstances, the Central Government, confronted by the imminent financial crisis, seems to be inclined to count upon surplus salt gabelle funds and to tide over the financial difficulties of the current year in whatever way possible.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 1.—Mr. Wang Yi-tang has been appointed Tuli of Anhui in succession to General Ma Lien-chia, who has been relieved of his post.

Other mandates appoint Mr. Kuan Keng-lin Tupan of the Canton-Hankow-Szechuen Railway, Mr. Kung Hsun-chang Chairman of the Yangtze Valley Waterways Commission, Mr. Huang Tsan-hai Director of the Lung-Hai Railway and Mr. Lin Shih Tupan of the Pukow-Hsinyang Railway.

A. W. C. Notes

The American Women's Club held an important business meeting yesterday afternoon in headquarters, which was followed by a pleasant tea.

The following Department announcements were made: The Library Department will meet on Friday, December 5, and Mrs. R. W. Davis will read a paper on "Modern Fiction of England," while Miss Ruth Beredict will talk on "Current Events."

The next meeting of the Literary Department will be on Friday, December 12, when Mrs. J. Scott Emens will give a paper on the "Decline of the Mings."

The general meeting of the Club will be on the 16th, and as the Art Department, whose day this is, had made no special preparations for this date, they will hold a joint meeting with the Gardening Department and Mr. Porterfield, of St. John's University, will give a paper on "The Life History of the Bamboo."

Members are reminded of the tea dance at the Majestic Hotel on December 9, under the auspices of the Social Department, for the general entertainment of all club members. Musical numbers will be given between dancers.

The Civic Department was thanked for its gift of $100 to the Community Christmas Tree.
